A few words about Lviv

Lviv is the most unusual city in Ukraine, and its most colorful. It is one of the country's most popular tourist destinations. Only Kyiv can compete with its beauty, grandness and number of amazing monuments. Different eras, architectures, traditions, identities, temperaments, and histories have been woven into the common thread that is Lviv.

The capital of the country's west, the city owes its fascinating appearance, reminiscent of Prague, Krakow and Vienna at once, to its bright and dynamic history, which has been changing and developing for over seven and a half centuries. It is thought that Prince Daniel of Galicia founded the city in the 13th century, naming it after his son Lev.

At the end of the 18th century, the city became a part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and its name was changed to Lemberg. At that time, it became the center for Polish, German, Jewish, and Ukrainian cultures at once.

Lviv's historic center can be called an outdoor museum. For good reason, it was included on the list of UNESCO's World Cultural Heritage sites – it has nearly two thousand historic, cultural and architectural monuments. The heart of the city, the Rynok Square, amazes with colorful houses, taken straight from the pages of fairytales. In its center stands the Town Hall, from which one can see breathtaking views of the city. You will also see the Dominican Church, the famous Armenian Apostolic Church and Lviv's crown jewel – the beautiful St. George's Cathedral. Another fantastic panoramic view can be seen from the Lviv High Castle's sightseeing platform.

A trip to Lviv always seems like a journey through time and space. However much you visit this city, you cannot claim that you have seen all its sights and unraveled all its mysteries. With each visit, you will find new surprises in this city, fascinating and impressing you with its inimitable appearance over and over again.
